@Previously Starred Question 417, transferred from the 23rd March, 1988.

THE MINISTER OF INDUSTRY (SHRI J. VENGAL RAO): (a) and (b) The BICP did not carry out any cost study of the cement industry for the years 1982-83 to 1985-86. The BICP carried out a limited study on the concessions needed by the 15 sick units and also on the problems of new units and submitted its recommendations in December, 1985. BICP also carried out another study on mini cement plants and its recommendations were submitted in June, 1987.

The BICP recommended that 11 out of 15 sick units had the potential to get out of sickness if the benefit of sickness for purposes of levy obligation was given for specified periods. The BICP also came to the conclusion that four units did not show possibility of getting out of sickness despite concessions of sickness.

As regards new units the BICP recommended certain concessions in the form of reduced levy obligation as well as the relief in excise duty for plants coming up after 1985-86.

BICP recommended an excise relief of 50 per cent of the normal rate for a specified period in respect of mini cement plants, BICP also recommended that mini cement plants could continue to remain outside the price and distribution controls.
